

Ströer Internal Area

By setting up an internal area on your Ströer website, you can make content available to a selected group of people. You can easily add or remove new users yourself in the Customer Center. Only these registered users can log in to the internal website area. This enables you to provide confidential data, member profiles or download sensitive documents, for example. Overall, the internal area of a website enables a differentiated user experience by restricting access to special content and functions for registered users and personalizing their interaction with the website.
